Leading More Businesses Into Resilience & Sustainability

The Transported Asset Protection Association (TAPA) is the leading global association that unites supply chain industry leaders and organizations with the common aim of upholding the highest standards of supply chain resilience and sustainability.

In Asia Pacific, TAPA APAC provides a diverse range of membership programmes to help its members enhance their supply chains resiliency, increase the security of their daily operations, protect their business assets, and develop greater brand equity through their commitment to consumers in safeguarding the movement of their products.

Majority of Fortune 500 Companies, whom are TAPA APAC members, recognize the importance of the application of TAPA's global security standards and programmes to help them stay resilient and to future-proof their value chains.

Cargo Crime

Over USD 13 billion every year is lost to organized thefts of commercial vehicles and their loads as estimates suggested. Supply chain attacks are becoming more frequent, more sophisticated and more violent. Businesses face severe financial and social repercussions, including business disruptions, revenue loss, and damage to brand reputation and integrity.

X13

Actual cost of crime is up to 13 times the value of the stolen goods.

We are helping to make their businesses more secure.

Business Continuity

On top of cargo crime, the global supply chain will continue face more disturbances and regulatory requirements in the years ahead. According to a Fortune Survey in 2022, 94% of Fortune 1000 companies worldwide experience supply chain disruptions from pandemic and three-quarters of them are dealing with the adverse impacts on their businesses.

Sustainability

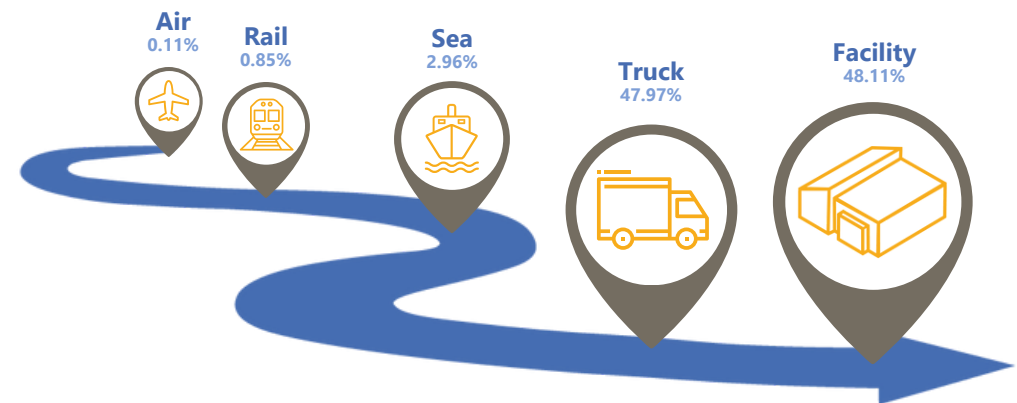

With consumer and governmental emphasis on sustainability, it is no doubt that businesses need to incorporate sustainable efforts in their supply chain to stay competitive.

TAPA's Global Standards and Certification programmes are highly respected as the most effective and resilient supply chain standards. TAPA Standards are used by businesses as a valuable equality and security benchmark in their partners selection for a secure ecosystem.

Supply Chain Standards

TAPA APAC offers industry standards and certification programmes which are reviewed and updated by its members and industry specialists every three years to provide protection against current and emerging risks.

An Ecosystem of Resilient Supply Chain Standards

TAPA Standards specify the minimum acceptable security standards for assets moving through the supply chain and the methods to maintain those standards.

TAPA Security Standards are a valuable quality and security benchmark for manufacturers to use as part of their selection of logistics partners.

Reduce Loss Ratio

Adopting TAPA Security Standards as part of their supply chain security programmes means losses incurred by TAPA APAC members are three times lower than the industry average.

As a TAPA APAC member, we will help you to put in place extra lines of defense to ensure your goods arrive securely at their destination by using industry best practices, intelligence sources and the shared knowledge and expertise of other members.

Supply chains in Asia Pacific have always been vulnerable to a wide range of threats that can disrupt operations, compromise data security, and damage reputations. TAPA APAC strives to ensure the integrity and resilience of supply chains, especially in the Asia Pacific region. TAPA's goal is to help members establish secure movement of goods for their businesses and build long-term resilience and sustainability into their value chains. With TAPA APAC membership, your commitment to uphold high standards not only protects your business, but also builds long-term competitive advantage in this everchanging threat-filled supply chain landscape.

TAPA APAC is committed to supporting our members' supply chain resiliency through the development and application of global security standards, recognized industry practices, technology, regulatory collaboration, and the proactive identification of crime trends and supply chain security threats.

Let's work together to build resilience against disruptions and risks.
